NATURE AND SCOPE (relationships; knowledges, skills and abilities; problem solving and creativity; and freedom to act.)RELATIONSHIPS

This position reports to the Wetland Conservation Act Operations Supervisor but must interact with many BWSR staff including, but not limited to the Wetland Section Manager, assistant directors, wetland mitigation specialists and assistants, other wetland specialists, technical services staff, monitoring staff and office administrative assistants. In addition to LGU and SWCD staff and board/council members, the employee must interact with staff from other agencies including USACOE, DNR, watershed districts, watershed management organizations, the Natural Resource Conservation Service, the Farm Service Agency, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency and others. The WCA Operations Coordinator provides general guidance, occasionally assigns special projects, and adjusts priorities. Communication with the supervisor is maintained by informal conversations, e-mails, conference calls and staff meetings. This position requires considerable oral and written communications with BWSR staff, local government officials and staff, other state and federal agencies, and the public.

KNOWLEDGES, SKILLS AND ABILITIES

The employee must have academic training and experience in ecological principals related to wetland science as well as familiarity with the technical aspects of wetland delineation, wetland typing and wetland functional assessment. The employee must also have direct professional experience working for or with wetland regulatory programs. It is essential that the employee have excellent oral and written communication skills which include: the ability to explain complex technical, political, and fiscal matters to the public; the ability to present, discuss, and explain controversial matters in a professional manner; and the ability to conduct effective training through speaking and demonstration. It is essential that the employee be able to work independently without close supervision and have good human relations skills. The employee must have a conceptual understanding of the role of government and regulatory programs. Preferably, the employee will have expertise in one or more technical fields related to wetland science including vegetation, soils and hydrology. The employee must develop and maintain technical competency in all aspects of wetland delineation and functional assessment.

PROBLEM SOLVING AND CREATIVITY

Key problem solving areas for this position are related to coordinating wetland regulatory activities between the private sector, State employees, Federal employees and local governments. The employee must have the ability to apply scientific principles and statutory authorities to tailor solutions or develop new approaches to resolve issues related to the WCA. Employee must be able to recognize conflict and apply appropriate dispute resolution techniques to resolve the situation and achieve program mandates and objectives. Where problems are unique or require policy change, the incumbent will seek direction from the supervisor.

FREEDOM TO ACT

Within established policy guidelines, the position has a high level of independence and freedom to act in areas related to the fulfillment of job responsibilities. This position has the authority to work directly with clientele and to independently solicit input from BWSR staff, state and local agency officials, and private sector or academic expertise as needed. This position will be expected to advise the supervisor of emerging issues and work activities and discuss policy implications of work activities with the supervisor and/or other managers as necessary.
